PREFACE.

We don't consider an apology necessary, in placing this work before the business public, and asking their consideration and patronage, because we feel conscious of having FULLY realized, when commencing this work, a NEED, which has been felt. We therefore send it forth, knowing that it has some defects, yet believing that it has sufficient merit to recommend it to the judgment of an intelligent public. We hope none will presume to judge of its worth without something more than a careless glance at its contents; for we are persuaded that it will fully repay a more careful examination, as much care has been taken in its compilation to render it an accurate guide to any who have occasion to consult its pages. The arrangement of the work we trust will prove more satisfactory than that of other publications of a similar character. It will be noticed that each State is under a department of its own, giving the location after each name. To our patrons we return thanks, also to the officers of the Central Pacific Railroad for their courtesies and kindly assistance.

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON STAGE ROUTE.

COL. F. HOOKER, General Superintendent.

S. C. PECK, Secretary.

The overland route from the California and Oregon branch of the Central Pacific railroad through northern California to the Oregon and California Railroad in Oregon, abounds in mountain scenery unsurpassed, if equaled, for grandeur and variety by any in the United States. Along the head waters of the Sacramento the scenery is varied and most beautiful. The route passes by the famous Soda Springs, noted for the medicinal properties of its waters, and a summer resort of considerable note. Passes by the towering, awe-inspiring heights of Mount Shasta and Castle Rock, and through the rich and fertile valleys of Southern Oregon. The route is supplied with first-class Concord coaches, good, sound, gentle and reliable horses and most excellent drivers. No trouble, pains or expense is spared by the gentlemanly superintendent and his employees to ensure the patrons of this line a speedy, comfortable and pleasant trip. Traversing the State of Oregon from north to south by a great public highway, this line is truly of great importance to the people, and is every way worthy of the name of one of the best on this Coast. and the opportunities for viewing the grand and beautiful scenery above described are unlimited. The progress of the coaches being necessarily slower than would be that of the "Iron Horse," it affords to the tourist and lover of nature ample time to see and enjoy the grandeur before him, and those advantages he will never regret having improved, but will look back upon as one of the most awe inspiring and pleasant journeys in his expcrience.

CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Central Pacific Railroad, of California, the Western Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco, Oakland and Alameda Railroad Company, the San Joaquin Valley Railroad Company, and the California and Oregon Railroad Company, were consolidated during the present year into a new company, under the name of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company, of California, was organized under the General Railroad Law of the State of California, with authority to construct a railroad from Sacramento to the eastern boundary of the State. By an Act of Congress, passed July 1, 1862, it was authorized to construct the Western portion of the Pacific Railroad, and the same provision for government aid was made in its favor as for the Union Pacific Railroad Company, which was chartered by the Federal Government, for the reason that the line was wholly within territory subject to its authority. The act further provided that the Central Pacific of California might extend its line beyond the eastern boundary of the State, and until a junction was formed with the Union Pacific Railroad, which commenced the construction of its line on the Missouri River, at Omaha, and to receive Government aid in ratio to the mileage constructed. By an amendatory act, passed by Congress April 4, 1864, the Central Pacific was made a body corporate, with authority to own such portion of the road as it might construct east of the eastern boundary of the State of California.

The Company possesses ample chartered powers, both from the States of California and Nevada and from the Federal Government.

For that portion of its line between Sacramento and the base of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, a distance of 7.18 miles, the government subsidy is at the rate of $16,000 per mile in its 6 per cent bonds; for the succeeding 150 miles through the Sierra Nevada at the rate of $48,000 per mile; and $32,000 per mile for such other portions of the line constructed west of the Rocky Mountains. The government subsidy is a second mortgage upon the road, the Company being especially authorized by an Act of Congress to issue its own bonds equal in amount to the Government aid, as a first mortgage on the road. In addition to pecuniary aid, Congress granted to it ten alternate sections of public lands on each side of the line of the road—or 12,800 acres per mile.

The work of construction was commenced in February, 1863, and successive sections of the road opened as follows: From Sacramento to New Castle, 31 miles, in January, 1865; to Auburn, 36 miles from Sacramento, May 15, 1865; to Clipper Gap, 42 miles, June 10, 1865; to Colfax, 56 miles, September 4, 1865; to Secret Town, 66 miles, May 8, 1866; to Alta, 73 miles, July 10, 1866; to Cisco, 94 miles, November 9, 1866; to the summit of the Sierras, 105 miles, July, 1867; to the eastern boundary of the State, 138 miles, January, 1868. In 1868, about 362 miles were constructed. On the 15th of April, 1869, the line was opened to Monument Point, on Great Salt Lake, a distance of 667 miles from Sacramento. It was opened to Ogden City by the 10th of May, 1869, at which time the same point was reached by the Union Pacific Railroad, when a continuous line was formed between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

The history of this great enterprise from the time of the early survey made by Judah and his party in the summer of '61 in the gulches and defiles of the Sierras, until the driving of the last spike at Promontory at its final completion, is well known to all Americans who were interested in its progress. But familiar as it is it never ceases to be interesting, especially to Californians, for the Golden State was the moving power which brought this mighty project before the nation, secured its aid, and by that means accomplished that which to others seemed an impossibility.

Some years before the final act was passed by Congress, many self-reliant men felt convinced that the scheme was a practical one, and were sure that all that was necessary was to have the matter rightly brought before Congress. Thus, it became in time a political issue, and none but railroad men could be elected to those offices, the holder of which could injure or advance the prospects of the proposed road.

The name of Theodore D. Judah is one of the first that stands out in the memory of those who are familiar with the early history of the road, which, in the estimation of some, his genius brought into being. With the aid of his personal friends, C. P. Huntington, "Charlie" Crocker, Mark Hopkins, and others, who subscribed $50 a piece, Judah was enabled to test his theory by making a careful survey of the passes of the Sierras. He returned encouraged by his success; and the fall following $1,500 was raised and used in the same manner. The result of both surveys was favorable and greatly encouraged this persistent, sanguine engineer. In '62 Judah went to Washington with charts, maps, etc., of the road. Sargent was there, as enthusiastic in the support of the measure as Judah. James H. Campbell, of Pennsylvania, and Schuyler Colfax were his most efficient supporters in the House. In the Senate, McDougal, of California, and Wilson, of Massachusetts, and Morrill, of Maine. There the battle was fought and the victory won. In Sacramento, on the 22d day of February, 1863, Governor

Stanford commenced the great work by shovelling the first earth. Though the country was rent by civil war, and Sacramento was staggering under the devastating flood, Leland Stanford was all hope, all life, all energy. Now that the work was fairly started another battle must be fought, a financial one. The 40 miles of road which must be built and stocked before aid could be received from Government, would cost at least $4,000,000, for that 40 miles carried the road through a great deal of heavy work. The corporators risked their fortunes, San Francisco assisted the work, the State and several counties did nobly, but the success of the enterprise was assured by the prompt liberality with which Fisk & Hatch, of New York, responded to the solicitations for aid made by C. P. Huntington. Now the work went on, but from the beginning until the summit was reached the Company were derided in the colums of the California newspapers, and the road was called the "Dutch Flat Swindle," especially while laboring to overcome the heavy grade near that town. On Monday, the 10th of May, 1869, a large company gathered from the four quarters of the Union, met at Promontory Point to witness the driving of the "Last Spike," and be partakers in the glorious act of uniting the East and West. The hour and minute designated for performing the ceremony arrived, and Leland Stanford, President, assisted by other officers of the Central Pacific, came forward; T. C. Durant, Vice-President of the Union Pacific, assisted by General Dodge and others of the same Company, met them at the end of the rail, where they paused while a reverend gentlemen invoked the Divine blessing. Then the last tie, a beautiful piece of workmanship, of California laurel, with silver plates on which were suitable inscriptions, was put in place, and the last connecting rails were laid by parties from each company. The last spikes were then presented, one of gold from California, one of silver from Nevada, and one of gold, silver and iron from Arizona. President Stanford took the hammer, made of solid silver, to the handle of which were attached the telegraph wires, and with the first tap on the head of the gold spike at 12 M., the news of the event was flashed over the continent. Speeches were made as each spike was driven, and when all was completed, cheer after cheer rent the air from the enthusiastic assemblage. When the sun sunk low toward the western summit the long trains moved away with parting salutes from the locomotives and the celebration was ended. The present officers of the road are : Leland Stanford. President; C. P. Huntington, 1st Vice President; Charles Crocker, 2d Vice President; Treasurer, Mark Hopkins; Secretary, E. H. Miller, Jr.; Auditor, Wm. H. Porter; General Superintendent, A. N. Towne; Assistant Superintendent, John Corning. Directors—Leland Standford, Mark Hopkins, Charles Crocker, Wm. E. Brown, C. H. Cummings, E. H. Miller, Jr., and C. P. Huntington. General Office, 58 K St., Sacramento. Local Offices, corner Market and New Montgomery, San Francisco, and 54 William street, New York City.

AUBURN, the county seat of Placer County cannot be called, as can nearly all mining towns, a blot on an otherwise pretty landscape. It is one of the neatest looking, home-like towns in the county. The business portion has a substantial appearance, the buildings being of brick and stone, fire-proof; the private residences ornamental, because they are cozy and are surrounded with an endless profusion of fruits and flowers. The public buildings, court house, etc. are good, and neat grounds surround them. The principal hotels of Auburn are the American, Orleans and Railroad House. There are two excellent schools and two fine church edifices. Auburn is a distributing point for a large extent of country lying east of the west fork of the American River, and all of that section of El Dorado County lying north and west of the American River. Stages run daily to Pilot Hill, six miles; Cave Valley, six miles; Greenwood, twelve miles; Georgetown, 16 miles; Forest Hill, twenty-one miles; Michigan Bluffs,

[This is the oldest firm in the city; first established in the Spring of 1850, under the style of "Forshee, Booth & Co.," composed of John Forshee, L. A. Booth, and Job Dye. The two latter gentlemen retired in the Spring of 1851. About the same period Charles Smith and Newton Booth established business under the name of Smith & Booth. After the fire of 1852, L. A. Booth became a member of the firm, which was then known as Booth & Co. Kleinhans & Co· established in 1852; Theodore P. and D. Kleinhans, partners. The latter firm united with the house of Booth & Co. in 1856; L. A. Booth, C. T. Wheeler, T. L. Barker and the Kleinhans constituting the firm. The Kleinhans retired in 1860, and Newton Booth again entered the firm. L. A. Booth and T. L. Barker retired from the firm in 1862, and J. T. Glover became a member. This firm stlll continues, and that, too, with all the surroundings of prosperity. Its busiuess relations extend not only through the northern and southern counties of the State, but also through the entire State of Nevada.]

NEW LIGHT

Brown's Patent

Self Generating

GAS BURNER.

Patented, August 22, 1871.

This new Gas Lamp takes the place of the Candle, the Coal Oil Lamp, and Coal Gas, at one-fourth the cost of City Gas. It can be used in city and country alike, as each fixture is complete in itself.

THE FLAME IS CLEAR, WHITE AND BRILLIANT,

And Produces neither Smoke nor Smell.

NO CHIMNEY OR WICK IS REQUIRED.

Each Lamp has a Patent Burner which generates the Gas. The Fixtures are made of metal and not liable to breakage. The gas is consumed as fast as it is made, which renders the Lamp NON-EXPLOSIVE.

AS A STREET LAMP IT HAS NO SUPERIOR.

It is equal to the best Coal Gas, and saves the expense of gas works and pipes. Each Lamp and fixture is complete in itself, being a perfect Gas Factory. The Street, Hotel, Saloon or Theatre Lamp, when properly lettered, is the most beautiful and economical Advertising Lamp ever devised.

☞ State and County Rights for sale by the Patentee, to whom all orders should be addressed.

CHICO.—Chico, the largest town in Butte County, is distant from Oroville, the county seat, twenty-five miles in a north-westerly direction; is connected with that place by stage. The Oregon Division of the Central Pacific Railroad, passes through this place, thereby connecting it with Sacramento, which can be reached in three hours. During the summer a weekly line of steamers is run between the two places, on the Sacramento River, from whence Chico is distant six miles; but during the winter months it becomes necessary for a daily line to be plied, for the transportation of grain and other produce. Agriculture has been the chief source of support of the people of Chico, but recently, that is within three or four years past, a new interest has become of importance, that of the lumber trade, the lumber being of fine quality and commanding a ready sale. Placer and hydraulic mining is carried on in the neighborhood, and that of the latter at Cherokee Flat, (twenty-two miles distant, are quite extensive. There is one weekly newspaper published here, The Northern Enterprise.

COLFAX, like Alta, is a regular eating station. It is a neat looking little town, with an air of comfort about it. It seems quite level compared with the towns above it, though it has an elevation of 2,421 feet. The Company have a nice large depot here, this being the distributing point for freight bound for Grass Valley, Nevada, North San Juan, and a large scope of mining country. This place is named in honor to Schuyler Colfax, and contains about one thousand inhabitants.

COLLEGE OF NOTRE DAME,

MARYSVILLE, CAL.

This Institution, established in Marysville in 1856, has been chartered by the State Legislature and endowed with all the rights and privileges of similar Collegiate Institutions in the United States.

The Institution is under the superintendence of the SISTERS OF NOTRE DAME, a society of Ladies who throughout the United States and Europe, are devoted to Education. Their primary object is to instil into the minds of youth a laudable emulation, to form their hearts to virtue, and fit them to be future ornaments of Society.

The Academy is eligibly situated in the upper part of Marysville, and is surrounded by an extensive garden and play ground, furnished with every facility for the amusement and physical welfare of the pupils. The diet is wholesome and abundant.

Minute attention is paid to the comfort and health of pupils, and in case of sickness they receive the most maternal care.

The course of studies is pursued in the English Language; but French, German and Spanish being also spoken by many of the teachers, the pupils enjoy every facility for perfecting themselves in these languages.

Lessons in Vocal and Instrumental Music are given, as also in Drawing and Painting of the several varieties now in vogue. Plain and useful needlework is considered indispensable, but should the Parents desire it the pupil may take lessons in embroidery and all kinds of fancy work, hair work, and wax, paper and muslin flowers.

The study of Music and Drawing, and of the Languages, is optional. No extra charge for the latter.

Every quarter, to excite laudable emulation, the young lady who has most distinguished herself in her class is rewarded by the honorary decoration of a medal. At the same time bulletins are forwarded to Parents or Guardians, in which are faithfully reported the conduct, proficiency and health of their daughters or wards.

The scholastic year consists of one session, which commences on the first of September and closes about the fifteenth of July. Pupils are not received for less than half a session, and no deduction for temporary absence is made, except in case of sickness.

At the close of the scholastic year, after a thorough examination of classes, Premiums will be distributed, and those pupils who have concluded their course of studies will receive a Diploma or Certificate of Merit, when such distinction is deserved.

DUTCH FLAT, sometimes called German Level, is one of the oldest mining towns in the State. The principal part of the town lies in something of a hollow nearly a mile from the station, but is anything but flat. The first miners were Germans, and the packers who carried them provisions, named the place, by describing it as that little Dutch Flat, meaning that level portion of the town now known as Stockton street. This is a more desirable place of residence than most mining mountain towns because of its healthful climate, being neither too high or too low. People are realizing this, and are building substantial, and in some cases elegant, residences, and making them home-like and luxurious with fruits and flowers. Dutch Flat has never been destroyed by fire, which is very remarkable. Many of the frail buildings first erected have fallen, and are being replaced by those having more solid foundations. Mining is the principal business, but the existence of the town does not depend on the mines. There are large saw mills, and ranches of various kinds all about the place, and many who reside here are engaged in business of various kinds elsewhere, which gives the town a permanancy it would not have if entirely dependent upon mining. There are three neat churches here, two of which have costly bells, and a pleasant school-building. There are five flourishing fraternal organizations here; the names—Odd Fellows, Red Men, Knights and Good Templars.

FOLSOM, situated in Sacramento County at the base of the Sierra Nevadas and on the south side of the American River, is twenty-two miles northeast of Sacramento City, with which it is connected by the Sacramento Valley Rail Road—the first built in the State—there this road is met by the Placerville and Sacramento Valley Rail Road, extending on to Shingle Springs. The local trade of the lower portions of Placer and El Dorado Counties centers here. North and east of Folsom are extensive mines, and to the south and west lies a valuable farming country. The culture of the vine is fast surpassing that of all other interests; the noted Natoma Vineyard is in this neighbourhood, and the raisin grape is extensively cultivated near the foot hills. There are also large granite quarries near here, which supplied material for the basement of the State Capitol. The scenery above Folsom is beautiful and the town itself very pleasant, the people social, hospitable and cultivated, showing a refined state of society. One newspaper, The Telegraph, is issued here weekly.

GRASS VALLEY is situated in a verdant valley near a picturesque portion of the Sierra Nevadas. There are many ready to date the settlement of Grass Valley as early as 1848, but none can give the name or any particulars of the early pioneer. The continued search for gold in this section was substantially rewarded from its earliest discovery. A little later—in 1850, after the opening of the placer mines—quartz was discovered, for which Grass Valley has since been renowned. Although, as we have stated elsewhere the annual yield of the mines near Nevada City, yet the permanent growth of Grass Valley and its business interests plainly show these figures must be far exceeded by the mines in the vicinity of the latter place. The first quartz mill here erected was in 1850, as an experiment, by Dr. Wittenbach, for J. Wright. The second by the Boston Company, in 1850. The first family located in this place was a Mr. Scott and wife, who came in the spring of 1850. In early times here, as in most portions of the State, Judge Lynch presided with promptness and decision, if not with legality and correctness. The first saw mill in Grass Valley was constructed by Judge Walsh, in 1850. The first hotel was erected by Thomas Beatty, in 1850, and named the Beatty House. In 1851, the first school was opened by Miss Rosanna Farrington. In 1851, a post-office was established, with Dr. C. D. Cleaveland as postmaster. Grass Valley with all its prosperity has had its losses—as the loss by fire, Sept. 13, 1855, will show, it being estimated at or above $350,000. Several have since occurred, but of much less damage or severity. Since the first steps toward the permanent settlement of Grass Valley, the improvements have steadily increased, and we could cite many interesting incidents, but time and space warn us to desist, and more especially as we had no intention to attempt the history of the place. Quartz has been the chief interest, and has served not only to make Grass Valley widely known, but one of the wealthiest inland towns of California.

LATHROP is the junction of the Central Pacific and Visalia Division, eight miles from Stockton. The Hotel is kept by H. A. Bloss, and is first-class in every respect. Tourists to the Yosemite change cars at this place, and go to Modesto, 20 miles south, where the railroad stops for the present. But when the road is finished to Bear River, where a flourishing town will soon be built up, Bear River is the nearest point to the Yosemite that a railroad can be built, and will be the starting point for all travel to that place of wonders.

LINCOLN, a thriving little town in Placer County, is situated on the Oregon Division of the Central Pacific Railroad, 13 miles west of Auburn and 28 northeast of Sacramento. This place is supported by its agricultural advantages, the surrounding country being one of California's best farming districts.

LIVERMORE, six miles from Pleasanton, is a fast growing little village, situated in the valley of the same name, forty-seven miles from San Francisco. It contains at present a freight station, a hotel and a few stores.

MARYSVILLE, the largest city in the State north of Sacramento, and county seat of Yuba county, is a beautiful place of about 6,500 inhabitants, situated near the junction of the Feather and Yuba rivers, thus making its commercial interests of considerable value, as the Yuba river is navigable to steamers of light draught at all seasons of the year. It was incorporated in 1851, although it was first surveyed in 1849, and named in honor of Mrs. Covilland, the only white woman then within its limits. The city improved and grew rapidly for several years, until in '57, when, with the decline of placer mining in that vicinity, it also declined. The business, wealth and population continued steadily to decrease for about ten years; but within the last four years it has revived, business become much brighter, and the city now, from its railroad advantages, has become a central point of Northern California. It is connected by rail with Sacramento, Vallejo, Oroville and Chico, and by stage with Colusa, La Porte, Grass Valley, and other places. The streets are graded and well bordered with fine business houses and beautiful residences. The place is surrounded by a levee as a protection against the overflow of the rivers. It is lighted by gas, supplied with good water, and has an excellent Fire Department. Religious and educational interests are well attended to, especially the latter. Two daily papers are published here, the Appeal and Standard. The manufacturing enterprises are prosperous, the Woolen Mill manufacturing above $200,000 worth of goods annually.

MODESTO.—This thriving town is situated in the beautiful and fertile valley of San Joaquin, and is the County seat of Stanislaus County. It is connected with San Francisco, Sacramento, and other large cities, by the Visalia Branch of the Western Pacific Railroad, which affords excellent facilities for the conveyance of her products to a good market. The land surrounding this place is of superior producing qualities, yielding immense crops of wheat, barley, etc., and the grazing for stock raising is surpassed by none in the State. A canal is being constructed through the valley, which will add materially to the many substantial attractions of the growing town of Modesto.

MOKELUMNE is a flourishing village, situated on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad about fourteen miles north of the city of Stockton, and about thirty-five miles south of Sacramento, the Capital of the State, and is surrounded by an extensive farming country. The first house was erected at Mokelumne in August, 1849. Since then it has grown rapidly, until, at the present time, about one hundred buildings are embraced within its limits. A church building is now being erected under the auspices of the M. E. Church, which will soon be completed. Its dimensions are thirty by sixty-five feet, twenty feet story—Roman style of architecture. In connection with this church enterprise the citizens of Mokelumne and vicinity deserve much praise, as this is the second church edifice erected within the past year, having lost one such building by fire just after getting it enclosed. The citizens of this enterprising town have also voted a tax to build a school-house, which will soon be in course of erection.

NEVADA CITY, situated about four miles from Grass Valley, has an advantage over that place from its local position and being the county seat. Nevada is one of the first mining towns in the State; its mines being of the richest, and said to be now yielding $1,500,000 annually. The place increased rapidly in the first years of its existence, and although fire at times nearly destroyed the little town, it did not seem to retard its growth, and its public buildings and dwelling-houses are now of a superior quality, indicating wealth. The public school building of Nevada is one of the finest in California. The agricultural districts surrounding the place add very materially to its wealth. Snow falls in the Winter,

O

OAKLAND, the fifth city of the State, is situated on the east shore of San Francisco Bay, opposite San Francisco, about six miles distant. Large groves of evergreen oaks used to cover the ground on which the city is built. Very many of these have been preserved, so that the streets and gardens of this city have more trees than those of any other city in the State; hence the name, Oakland, sometimes called Park City. There are 2,000 houses in this city, and a population of 10,000. It is distinguished for the number and high standing of its educational institutions. There are six public schools, a Military Academy, Female College, Young Ladies' Seminary, Convent of the Sacred Heart, University School, and State University. Also a public library, nine churches, two daily newspapers, City Hall, banks, street railroad, gas, water works, etc. The immediate harbor of Oakland is an arm of the principal bay called San Antonio Creek, which is obstructed by a bar at the mouth which prevents the passage of heavy vessels except at high tide. The bay in the front being very shallow, compelled the construction of a wharf nearly two miles in length, in order to conveniently connect it with San Francisco. By this means a railroad and steam ferry, making hourly trips, was established, and Oakland rapidly grew to its present importance. This railroad and ferry now constitute the Western terminal portion of the Central Pacific Railroad. San Antonio, Brooklyn and Clinton are contiguous villages separated from Oakland by a branch of San Antonio Creek, around which it has been proposed to extend the boundaries of the larger city. On the beach, five miles north of the city, a new city to be called Berkley, is to be laid out. The site chosen for it, is exactly opposite the Golden Gate. As the train glides slowly out of the city, one receives the impression that everything is very beautiful, and that all the people must be wealthy. This impression is nearly correct, for many of the merchant princes of San Francisco reside here, who have surrounded themselves with great luxury and beauty.

PLACERVILLE, incorporated city and county seat of El Dorado county, is situated in the foothills of the Sierras, about fifty miles from Sacramento, at an altitude of 1,880 feet. It is the oldest town in the mining district, it having been settled in 1848, though not incorporated until 1859. Owing to its mining advantages, and its location on the principal route of overland immigration, it was rapidly settled, and in a comparatively short time its population numbered from five to seven thousand. From an unfortunate incident having occurred here, for the first four years of its existence it was known as Hangtown; but as this name—as it naturally would—grated harshly upon the ears of its citizens' more refined taste, they gave to it the name of Placerville. With the transfer of travel to other routes, and the decline of attention to mining, the importance of the place also declined, and the inhabitants migrating to more remunerative quarters, its population was reduced to less than 1,000. But prospects have been brightening again with the interests of agriculture and more extensive developments of the mines, and the permanent prosperity of the place has been establised. One of the oldest papers of the State, the Mountain Democrat, and El Dorado Republican are published here weekly.

RED BLUFF, largest town and county seat of Tehama County, is built upon the western bank of the Sacmento River, at the head of navigation, thereby commanding a fine trade with the surrounding country. It is in the midst of a rich agricultural district and luxuriant grazing lands, which are invaluable resources to a steadily increasing business. Steamboats are run regularly between this place and Sacramento, which is distant, by the river, 240 miles. The California and Pacific Railroad from Woodland in passing through, and the California and Oregon Railroad within two miles of the place, will greatly enhance the value of property and promote the business interests, besides making the journey to travelers much quicker and less tedious. Red Bluff has a population upwards of 2.000 people, and as regards schools, lodges, and various SACRAMENTO CITY is situated on the east bank of the Sacramento river, south of the American, which meets with the Sacramento at this point. The first American who effected a settlement on the present site of our city was the renowned pioneer General John A. Sutter. Whenever an authentic history of Sacramento is given, his name must stand most prominent upon its pages. In December, 1848, was made the first survey of the region now occupied by the city. This was done by Captain William H. Warner. The prosperity and permanency of Sacramento was threatened by the great fire of 1852, which, notwithstanding every exertion to check its progress, swept away in a single night the results of many months of unsparing labor. The floods swept over it in the winter of '51–2, and the waters rushed with irresistible force through every street. When they abated, the people went to work and built levees around their city, and fancied themselves secure. But the city was again inundated in '61–2. To guard against the recurrence of this evil, the city bed was raised above the highest known tide, and so far every effort of the angry river to wear away the solid mass of earth has proved futile. This is truly an American city, built by indomitable American energy and perseverance, despite the ravages of fire and flood. Not only built the city, but built the ground on which it stands, for to-day it stands some ten feet above its original site. From the small and unimportant beginning of a few years ago it has emerged a thriving, bustling city. There is much of interest here aside from the fact of its being the Capital of the State. It is the heart of a great system of iron arteries, whose pulsations reach to the Atlantic seaboard on the east, and even to those far away and almost unknown nations of the west, the oldest, though the least known and appreciated of all the nations with which commerce has connected our western shores. Aside from these facts, there is a quiet beauty peculiar to this city which renders it attractive to travelers and dear to Californians. The city is laid out in a regular square, the streets running at right angles, fronting on the river, which here runs nearly north and south. Those running north and south are numbered 1, 2, 3, etc. Those running from the river back, or east and west, are named with the alphabet, A, B, C, etc. Its streets are well shaded; its gardens bloom with a tropical luxuriance. The city is built mostly of brick; the streets broad and well paved. It contains numerous elegant public and private buildings, including the new State Capitol and county buildings. Churches of nearly all denominations, and public and private schools are numerous. There are also many benevolent organizations and the numerous fraternal societies which are found in all California towns, large or small. Sacramento has six newspapers, four of which are dailies: the Union, established 1851, daily and weekly, independent in politics; the Bee, Republican, daily and weekly; the Record, daily and weekly, Republican; the State Capitol Reporter, daily and weekly, Democratic; the Journal, a semi-weekly, German; and the Rescue, a weekly temperance paper. The city is lighted with gas, and watered from the river by the aid of two pumps, with a lifting capacity of about 90,000 gallons per hour.

The State Capitol is the first building of prominence that greets the eye on approaching Sacramento. A nearer view and general survey of the city reveals its central location and general proportions. The ground whereon the Capitol stands was donated by the city of Sacramento in 1860, and is bounded on the north and south by L and N streets, and on the east and west by Tenth and Twelfth. The building faces to the west, and is reached by a flight of granite steps 80 feet in width and 25 feet in height. The surface measure of the building, with the angles, is fully 6,000 square feet, and the lineal 1,200. The first floor of the building is entirely devoted to the Executive Department. The Governor's rooms, three in number, are situated in the southwest corner of the building. The dimensions of the Supreme Court Room are 58 by 46 feet. This room is well lighted from the east by seven large windows. Twelve lights, of two burners each, with one chandelier, comprise the gas fixtures. The south and north wings upon the second floor are devoted respectively to the Senate and Assembly Chambers, each lighted from the north, east and south. The Senate Chamber measures 72 by 62 feet; and the Assembly 82 by 72. The Library is an elegant chamber, situated on the same floor with the Senate and Assembly Chambers, in the circular projection between the wings, and immediately over the Supreme Court Room. Upon the third floor are seventeen rooms, which are to be used as committee rooms, with the exception of the southwest room, which will be a Cabinet and Museum. Over the inner dome is constructed the outside dome. It is surrounded by a portico of iron columns, and is to be surmounted with Powers' statue of California, in iron. The grounds about the building, covering the four blocks donated by the city, will be terraced, with gates at the corners, and possibly in the middle of the boundaries. The lot wall will be eighteen inches high. The first architect of the Capitol was Reuben Clark. He laid the foundation, but when the walls were some twelve feet from the street level, he was taken ill, and soon after died. Gordon P. Cummings, for several months Clark's assistant, was appointed by the Commissioners to fill the latter's place. This was on the 1st of January, 1866, and since that time Mr. Cummings has had charge of the building. The diagrams for the ornamentation are original with Mr. Cummings, and reflect credit upon his ability as an architect.

SAN JOSE, the beautiful, is the home of wealth and refinement, well deserving its appellation. It is the county seat of Santa Clara county, and has a population of ten thousand, which is rapidly increasing. The public buildings are many and are tastefully constructed. The Court House is the best of its class in the State, and visitors are attracted to its lofty dome from which a most delightful view can be obtained of almost the entire valley and the Bay of San Francisco. Eleven churches ornament the city, and indicate the devotional character of the people. Two or three religious societies hold meetings in public halls and school houses. Seven fine school buildings have been erected in addition to the colleges and private schools. The convent of Notre Dame for young ladies, is celebrated throughout the State. The various convent buildings were erected at a cost of over $500,000. The State Normal School building, now in course of construction, will be a beautiful edifice, with a frontage of one hundred and seventy-two feet. The new building of the University of the Pacific, an institution under the control of the Methodist Church, is situated between San Jose and Santa Clara, and will be an additional ornament to the beautiful avenue known as "The Alameda." San Jose has societies of Masons, Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, Good Templars, three benevolent societies, two daily and three weekly newspapers, three banks, forty-one lawyers, thirty-two physicians, etc. It possesses in addition to these, foundries, flouring mills and other manufacturing establishments. The city is watered by artesian wells, some of which reach to a depth of from one hundred to two hundred feet. Its streets are broad and macadamized. In the principal street is a railroad for horse-cars running through The Alameda, three miles to Santa Clara. The Alameda which distinguishes San Jose, is a street, on either side of which are trees that meet and form a bower, for which we have to thank the Padres of the Mission, as they were planted by them in 1799. Two railroads now converge at San Jose: a branch of the Central Pacific, and the Southern Pacific now extending to Gilroy.

SAN LEANDRO is a thriving town, the county seat of Alameda county. It has a population of about 1,000 inhabitants. It derives its name from San Leandro creek, on which it is built. The principal buildings are the Court-house, jail, several stores and hotels, and an agricultural implement manufactory. The town supports one weekly newspaper—the Gazette.

SHASTA, at the head of Sacramento Valley, among the foot hills which enclose it, where the mountain roads lead off to Trinity River and the Siskiyou and Klamath country, is situated the pleasant and healthful little town of Shasta, with its population of a thousand souls. named in honor of the grand old mountain peak overlooking that region. It has once been one of richest mining towns in the State and is still the center of a rich placer and quartz mining district, though not so extensive as formerly, still is the favored place of residence of many of the early settlers of that region. About one hundred square miles of the surrounding country is covered with fir and pine timber of the finest quality. One of the oldest papers of the State—established in 1852—the Shasta Courier, is published here weekly.

when the town was laid out by Capt. Weber—being successful, and was named in honor of Commodore Stockton. The surrounding country is very fertile, and contributory to its interests are large mining districts. The Central Pacific Railroad passes through the town, giving the benefit of railroad connections with all places of importance in the United States. Stockton has had its calamities as most other cities, but it has "weathered the storms" and is now one of the most prosperous of California's inland cities. The streets are well and regularly laid out, paved and sheltered by awnings. The public buildings, stores and hotels are fine, and some of the most lovely private residences in the State can be found here. An artesian well, 1,002 feet deep, supplies the city with water, although it can be obtained easily nearer the surface, ordinary wells being from ten to twelve feet in depth. The State Insane Asylum is in this city, and the several large buildings add to the appearance, while the business connected therewith benefits the city's resources. Besides the present railroads others are in contemplation, and stages penetrate the interior in every direction. Several newspapers are here published, viz: The Independent, daily and weekly; the Republican, daily and weekly; the Herald, daily; the Gazette weekly, and the Pacfic Observer, weekly.

TEHAMA, twelve miles south of Red Bluff, the county seat of Tehama County, is situated on the west bank of the Sacramento in a very pleasant locality. It depends entirely upon the products of the soil for its resources, and is the most northerly of the exclusively agricultural towns of the State—though Red Bluff is termed a town of that class, and is situated to the north of Tehama, yet it depends more upon its commerce than agriculture. All the produce of the farming lands in this vicinity designed for transportation, are carried by the small steamboats, which navigate the Upper Sacramento. From the nature of its resources there is nothing to prevent the place becoming permanently prosperous.

Seventeen years in Practice.

I desire to call the attention of the public to my New and Beautiful Base for

DENTAL PLATES,

"THE PERKINS-HYATT BASE."

It is lighter and at the same time stronger than Dental, Vulcanite or Hard Rubber.
Its color is very near that of the natural gum, and will not change in the mouth.
It is entirely free from all unpleasant taste.
It is not in the least affected by the acids of the mouth.
It is not injurious to any mouth, even the most sensitive, which is not true of Rubber plates, containing a large amount of Mercury.
It is more pleasant and comfortable to the wearer than plates made of any other material.

☞ Persons in need of Dental Plates will do well to call and examine this work. I am also working the "PYROXILINE," Gold and Silver. Especial attention given to filling teeth with gold. Remember the Place.

TRUCKEE is a prominent station on the C. P. R. R., 119 miles from Sacramento and 77 miles from Nevada City, situated on the eastern slope of the Sierra near the boundary line of the State, and only two miles from Donner Lake, the Gem of the Sierras—and fifteen miles from Lake Tahoe, one of the favorite summer resorts of Californians. Truckee was noted at one time for its lumber and wood privileges, but since the completion of the Railroad a great portion of this business has been discontinued. Truckee, like many of our mountain towns, has suffered considerably from fire. A very beautiful stream of the same name passes through the town.

YREKA.—This place is located about twenty miles south of the northern State line, in the western part of Shasta Valley, at an elevation of 4,000 feet above the sea. As a result of the early gold-seekers' investigations in 1851, Yreka sprang into existence. The precious and eagerly sought for dust was found in large quantities, and the business and prosperity of the place steadily increased for several years; but as the placers began to diminish in their yield, the central business, as a consequence, gradually decreased and the decline of the place began; but now the quartz mining interest is increasing, and new mills for crushing are constructed every year. The place has now a population upwards of 1,500. The city is lighted by wood gas, and is also amply supplied with pure water. The schools here are well attended, and the churches and other public organizations similar to those of most other places of its size in California. Most of the country surrounding Yreka is a fine agricultural area, upon the development of which will depend the future wealth of the place, although mining will still be carried on with success indefinitely. Two newspapers are published here weekly, the Union and the Journal.

CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The site of what is now the city of San Francisco was occupied by white men September 17, 1776. The Mission was established the same year. It owes its origin to Catholic missionaries, and Spanish soldiers. In 1835, Captain W. A. Richardson put up the first pioneer dwelling with rude wooden walls and sail-cloth roof. In 1836, the first frame house was built by Jacob P. Leese. Others soon arose, and the little settlement fast approached the dignity of a town, for which a name was suggested by a plant common in the vicinity which the Spaniards called "Yerba Buena"—the Good Herb. On the 30th of January of that year, this name was dropped and the older one adopted which had belonged to the neighboring Mission for nearly four-score years; thus the town became San Francisco. New Year's day, 1849, the new city claimed a population of 2,000. In extent, population, commerce, wealth and growth, the San Francisco of to-day is not only the chief city of California, but the great commercial metropolis of the whole Pacific slope, having a population of 150,361. At different stages of her history she has passed through many vicissitudes. She has suffered severely from conflagrations; six times within twenty-one months the greater portion of the city was burned, involving a loss to her citizens of $22,500,000! Her commerce was depressed and her growth retarded for a period of years, from 1854 to 1858. Market street, the longest and widest in the city, begins at the water front about half a mile east of the City Hall, and runs in a southwesterly direction. Beyond the city limits north of Market, the streets run at right angles to each other. The most level running in straight lines a little west of north and east of south, have their numbers begin at Market. The principal of these in regular order receding from the city front, are Front, Battery, Sansome, Montgomery, Kearny, and many others parallel to them. At right angles to these, and on the hillside, are Geary, Post, Sutter, Bush, Pine, California, Sacramento, and others, whose numbers begin at the street forming the city front. South of Market, the streets running parallel to and south of it, are called in receding order, Mission, Howard, Folsom, Harrison, etc. The streets running at right angles to these are numbered from First street upwards, to the westward. East of First street, in order, are Fremont, Beal, Main, etc. On the Potrero, at South San Francisco, the streets running east and west are named after the towns in the State, and those at right angles to them after the States in the Union. On all streets the numbers on the northerly or northeasterly sides are even numbers, and on the southerly or southeasterly sides odd numbers. One hundred numbers are allotted to each block bounded by principal streets, so that the initial figure of the number placed on a building at any street-crossing shall indicate the number of main streets such street-crossing is from the starting point. The name of the streets are also painted on the lamps at street-crossings. The buildings are many and very fine: the principal ones are the Grand Hotel, corner Market and New Montgomery streets; the City Hall on Kearny, opposite the Plaza, between Washington and Clay; Mercantile Library building, north side of Bush, between Montgomery and Sansome; Masonic Temple, west side of Montgomery street, corner of Post; Occidental, east side of Montgomery from Bush to Sutter; Cosmopolitan, northwest corner Bush and Sansome. Lick House, northwest corner Montgomery and Sutter; Russ House, west side Montgomery from Bush to Pine; American Exchange, west side Sansome, between California and Sacramento; Young Men's Christian Association Rooms, north side of Sutter, between Kearny and Dupont; Bancroft's building, north side of Market street, between Third and Fourth; Merchants' Exchange, north side of California street, between Sansome and Montgomery; Post Office, occupying block bounded by Jackson, Washington, Sansome, and Battery streets; Alta California building, north side of California, between Montgomery and Kearny streets; and so many others that a mention of them would weary the reader. The churches are about sixty in number—some of them costly buildings. The Methodists have eleven church buildings; the Baptists, six; Episcopalians, five; Congregationalists, four; Presbyterians, eleven; Unitarians, one. All other religious sects are represented, including several Chinese Joss Houses. The Jewish Synagogue on Sutter street is a very fine building—total cost, $185,000 gold coin. The Methodist Chinese Mission House is a combination church and schoolhouse—Superintendent, Rev. Mr. Gibson: assistant, Rev. Hen Sing Me, a native preacher. The City is rich in Benevolent Societies—the City and County Hospital; French Benevolent Society; German General Benevolent Society; Protestant Orphan Asylum; Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum; San Francisco Female Hospital; Ladies' Protection and Relief Society; and many others offer homes to the friendless ones so common in any large city, and especially in one so cosmopolitan in character as San Francisco. The City is amply supplied with schools. both public and private. There are five Colleges—City College, Healds' Business College, St. Ignatius College, St. Mary's College, and Toland Medical College. The public school buildings are Lincoln, Denman and Tehama. In addition to these there are several large and fine wooden school-houses of modern structure, of which the principal one is the girls' High School. The newspapers and periodicals are the Abend Post, Advocate, Alaska Herald, Alta California, Demokrat (German), California Farmer, California Medical Gazette, Police Gazette, California Staats Zeitung, California Teacher, Calumet, China Mail and Flying Dragon, Commercial Herald and Market Review, Commercial Record, Courrier De San Francisco, Court and Law Guide, Dial, El Tiempo, Elevator, European Mail, Evangel, Evening Bulletin, Examiner, Figaro, Freight Circular, Golden City, Golden Era, Grand Army Gazette, Guide, Healds' College Journal, Hebrew, Hebrew Observer, Irish News, El Eco Della Patria, La Sociedad, La Voce Del Popolo, La Voz Del Nuevo Mundo, Law Bulletin, Le National, Living Way, Masonic Mirror, Mining and Scientific Press, Monitor, Morning Call, New Age, News of the World, Occident, Old Dominion, Overland Monthly, Pacific, Pacific Appeal, Pacific Business College Review, Pacific Churchman, Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal, Pacific Youth, Pioneer, Real Estate Advertiser, Real Estate Circular, Resources of California, San Francisco Chronicle, San Francisco Marmitime Register, San Francisco Market Review, San Francisco News Letter and California Advertiser, Settlers' and Working World's Crisis, and Wreck Register. The drive to the Cliff House is to the San Franciscan what Central Park is to the New Yorker, and the style of the former is not to be outdone by the latter. The Cliff House road stretches westerly from the city limits, and from a mere trail over shifting sand hills has become the broadest, smoothest and longest track in the State. It is wide enough in places for twenty teams abreast. At the end of this magnificent drive is the Cliff House, so named from its site on the rocky bluff or cliff overlooking the Seal Rocks. Another pleasant resort, but of an entirely different character, is Woodward's Gardens, north side of Howard, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. These are the private property of R. B. Woodward, Esq., by whose ample fortune and refined taste they have been laid out. They were first opened to the public on behalf of the soldiers who lay bleeding in the hospitals during the late rebelion. The Sanitary Fund was low; money must be had; and in the way princely sums were received, who can say how many suffering ones were relieved by the aid of the generous proprietor of the Woodward Gardens. Other resorts are the City Gardens, northeast corner Folsom and Twelfth streets; Hayes' Park, corner Laguna and Hayes; and the Oakland and Alameda Parks, on the east side of the Bay.

The Pioneer Medical and Surgical Institute was established in 1850, by

Dr. J. C. YOUNG,

Formerly Professor of the University, Penn.; Author of Comparative Anatomy; Honorary Member of the Royal College of Surgeons; Professor of Obstetrics, and Lecturer upon Diseases of Women and Children; Lecturer upon Diseases of the Urinary and Generative Organs.

To Protect the Afflicted from the Unprincipled, and Afford them Speedy and Radical Cures.

The Institute has now entered upon its seventeenth year, and the success of the treatment used and the rapidity of the cures effected have become part of the Medical History of the Pacific Coast. In those early times the licenses of society developed an alarming increase in SPECIAL and PRIVATE COMPLAINTS, of a type unknown in the Eastern States and Europe, which the accepted remedies of the fountains of medical science would not reach. Mercury only increased the disorder, or dried it up, driving it back to the blood, for it to reappear in some new and more terrible form.

MEDICAL

Remedies of a purely vegetable nature were discovered, and their efficiency became so marked that

Cures are Guaranteed in all Cases

Of Self-Abuse, Seminal Weakness, Nervous Debility, Mercurial Complaints, Gonorrhœa, Stricture, Gleet, Syphilis, Secondary Complaints, Diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, all affections of the Urinary and Generative Organs, all Female Irregularities, etc., etc.

They can be treated at home with every certainty of the same success that would attend a visit to the INSTITUTE.

☞ Office for the sale of Dr. J. C. Young's celebrated Female Medicines.

Preventive Powders for Married Ladies, giving perfect control over the increase of family. Innocent and potent. Price $5.00 per box, lasting from four to six months.

French Lunar, or Female Monthly Pills, for the removal of Suppressions, etc. A most valuable pill. Price $5.00 per box.

TO THE AFFLICTED RESIDING IN THE INTERIOR.

My system of treatment is such that the same success marks its treatment when conducted by letter as by personal interview. Indeed, the greater number of my patients have never visited the Institute, but have had advice and remedies forwarded to them by mail or express. The patient is thus enabled to preserve the secret of his complaint, as all letters are returned or destroyed, and the utmost secrecy preserved. All that is required is to inclose that part of the advertisemont mentioning the trouble of the writer, and full and complete directions, including the remedies, can be forwarded at once. All letters mnst be addressed to

BENJ. F. JOSSELYN, M. D.,

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH,

PHRENOLOGIST

PHYSIOGNOMIST,

Hygeian Home Water Cure,

And PHRENOLOGICAL INSTITUTE,

637 CALIFORNIA ST.,

Between Kearny and Dupont, San Francisco.

Here all may obtain a truthful examination and a correctly marked Fowler & Wells chart at from $2 to $3. Examination without chart $1.50.

Dr. Smith gives Free Lectures to Gentlemen at his Institute on Phrenology every Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

INVITATION TO INVALIDS,

And all persons who are in any way out of health, who desire to know the nature and causes of their disease, may come and avail themselves of an Examination through Phrenology in regard to Health FREE of charge.

Between the hours of 9 and 4, Sundays excepted.

Dr. Smith has practiced Phrenology for twenty years, and during the last ten years has been constantly using the science connected with Physiognomy, in examining or diagnosing disease, and claims to have made discoveries in the science of Phrenology, that enables him by an examination of the head, even blind-folded, to determine the disease to which the person is constitutionally subject, or whether the disease at the time afflicting the person, is the result of accident or hereditary weakness; whether Consumptive, Dyspeptic, Rheumatic, Apoplectic, Neuralgic or Seminal. Especially does the form of the head indicate the strength of the uterine and reproductive system. The head is also an index of the natural strength of the lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, spleen, back or vertebræ, and it determines the power of the system in warding off and overcoming diseases of all kinds.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES
Have Attained to Perfection.

It is a well-known fact that they stand first on the record of Fame. The old style of these Machines was the best in its day, but the latest Silent, Adjustable Feeder is perfection, and no mistake. All are invited to call at our new and spacious show-rooms, 427 Montgomery Street, three doors south of the old stand, We consider it no trouble, but a pleasure, to show to every one our Family Sewing Machines, and to convince our visitors of their decided superiority. Do not hesitate. Trouble, we know not. Bring your friends, (we have plenty of room), and make yourselves perfectly at home here. If you are not in favor of the "Wheeler & Wilson," we will prove to you it is the best. If you have any other make of Machines on hand, and are not satisfied with their working or stitch, we will allow something for them in exchange.

STENCIL PLATES.

F. M. TRUWORTHY,

318 FRONT ST., San Francisco, California.

Diploma received from Mechanics' Fair, for 1871, and every year previous.

Stencil Plates, when handsomely executed, present the cheapest and best mode of advertising that can be adopted. This is the experience of all who have used them.

Stencil Slates of every pattern cut at this Establishment in a style unequaled by any other workmen on Pacific Coast.

Merchants and others are invited to call and examine specimens in proof of the above assertion.

Orders by mail, as well as those given in person, promptly executed and forwarded. Parties sending orders by letter are particularly requested to write plainly, and give the exact space they wish the letters to occupy.

By close application and superior execution of work during an experience of thirteen years, Mr. Truworthy has extended his business to its present proportions. His facilities for rapid and tasteful execution of all work in his line are now far superior to those of any other in this State or in the Union.

Having purchased all the late John Hall's Stencil Tools, Plates and Impressions, and everything pertaining to his business, I am prepared to furnish his customers with fac-similes of his work.

Brushes, Ink and Marking Pots for sale.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN is a regular eating station; also the distributing point for the Battle Mountain, Galena and Copper Canyon mining camps in the mountains just north of here, as well as for Austin and the Reese river country. The place is named from the mountains north of the station, and for one in particular, where a fierce battle was once fought, in which the Indians were driven from every position they took up, and were at length vanquished. Blossom & Wise run a daily line of stages from here to the Battle Mountain mines, seven miles, while Fuller & Clugage run a daily line to Austin, ninety miles; also to Galena, twelve miles.

EUREKA.—This place, which, less than four years ago, was a wild waste, is now, from its mining advantages, a town of considerable importance. During the first eight months of its existence its population reached more than one thousand, and that number rapidly increased. The town is situated about 84 miles south of Palisade, a station of the Humboldt Division of the Central Pacific Railroad, with which it is connected by lines of daily stages, run by Messrs. Woodruff & Ennor, early pioneers of Nevada State. The trip from Palisade is made as comfortable and pleasant as Nevada staging well can be, as the road is supplied with good stock and fine Concord coaches. It is pleasantly located and is a point of supply for a rich mining region. The GOLD HILL is an incorporated mining town, generally considered to be about one mile south of Virginia City; but the road between is so well lined with houses, the two places are fast merging into one. It was first settled in 1859, but for some time the existence of silver mines was not suspected. Mining was carried on in what has since been known as Gold Hill proper, a chimney on the Comstock. The precious dust washed out by the miners contained a large proportion of silver, but they had no dreams of silver, though at work on the surface of the richest silver mine in the world. It was not until about two months after the discovery of silver ore had been made by the gold miners of Six-Mile Canyon, near Cedar Hill, that a silver light flashed across the visions of the miners of Gold Canyon. That Fall the mines began to be livelier than ever, and the mines of Gold Hill attracted attention in California. In March, 1860, there were two or three hundred miners, prospectors and others, in and about Gold Hill, and with the opening of Spring the great rush from all sections of the country set in toward the new land of silver known as Washoe.

The town of Gold Hill is situated in the upper portion of the large ravine known as Gold Canyon, and is irregularly built on each side of the street (Main street), which passes along down the bed of the ravine. One-half of the celebrated silver-producing Comstock ledge is within its municipal limits, and the canyon contains the works of some of the most noted silver mines in the world. The Bullion, the Alpha, the Imperial, the Imperial-Empire (consolidated), the Empire, the Exchequer, the Challenge, the Confidence, the two works of the Yellow Jacket, the Crown Point, the Kentuck, the Belcher, the Segregated Belcher, the Overman, the Caledonia, the American, and the works of several smaller mining operations. The mills in Gold Hill are the Eclipse, the Union (or Sunderland), the Gold Hill Quartz, the Sapphire, the Rhode Island (belonging to the Crown Point Mining Company), the Petaluma, the Empire, the Imperial, the Marysville, the Piute, the Papoose, the Pacific, the Atlas, the Ione, the Succor, etc., all of which are worked by steam power, and are nearly all in operation—being engaged much of the time on ore hauled from several of the mines in the Virginia district. Nearly all of the iron work of these mills is now done at Gold Hill, there being several iron foundries and two boiler works here, which employ a large number of hands, to whom higher wages are paid than in any other part of the world.

The mining prospects of Gold Hill District are encouraging, even if no more rich deposits should be found in the lower levels—now down, in some places, between 1,100 and 1,200 feet. The Sutro Tunnel, which is intended to drain the Comstock Lode 2,000 feet below the Gould and Curry croppings, will add largely to the wealth of the State.

There are 5,000 inhabitants in Gold Hill, four public schools with an excellent corps of teachers, churches, lodges, and other institutions such as usually constitute a thriving community. It has also a printing office, where the Gold Hill Daily News is published every evening. It has the reputation of being one of the best printed newspapers on the Coast.

HAMILTON.—This place is the county seat of White Pine County, and is situated about 126 miles south of Palisade, at which place passengers may connect by stage with the Central Pacific Rail Road for further journeying. This is an incorporated city and principal town of Eastern Nevada. It has now less than one half of its former inhabitants; it having had at one time upwards of 5000. It was located in '68 on what is known as Treasure Hill, and was soon filled with adventurers of all classes. With the partial cessation of mining operations, the towns in this vicinity declined in population, but owing to rich mines still unworked the permanency of Hamilton though threatened, was not seriously affected. For so new a place, the churches and schools are remarkably well maintained. One paper, a large and handsome sheet, under the title of the White Pine News, is published here daily. The stage line above mentioned, under the proprietorship of Messrs. Woodruff & Ennor, can hardly be left without a notice of which it is well worthy. By the exertions of these enterprising proprietors the route is made pleasant and convenient. The road being supplied with best of outfits in the way of first class Concord coaches and good teams, quick time is made, which is both pleasant and profitable to passengers and those awaiting the arrival of the mail and express.

RENO—Reno is located on Truckee river and is quite an important station on the Central Pacific Railroad. Its altitude is about 4,507 feet. From Sacramento it is distant 154 miles, and from Omaha 1,620. It was named in honor of General Reno who was killed in battle at South Mountain. The place numbers about 1,000 inhabitants who are an ambitious and stirring people. There are published two papers, the Nevada State Journal and the Crescent. Reno is the nearest point on the railroad to Virginia City and will soon be connected with that place, direct by rail, whereas at present travelers are conveyed between these two points by the Opposition Stage Company and Woodruff & Ennor, who dispatch daily coaches. In the neighborhood of the town are large forests of timber and several saw mills. Mining operations are being carried on extensively in gold, silver and copper, the latter predominating. Much of the ground around the town is of a nature fit for cultivation. Within the past year the County Seat of Washoe County has been removed fom Washoe City to Reno, giving thereby this place another advantage, which with those of its being a railroad TREASURE CITY.—This place, in White Pine county, at an elevation of 9,236 feet above the sea, is situated on the northern slope of Treasure Hill, near its summit, one and a half miles south of Hamilton. In 1867, large and extensive deposits of silver ore were discovered, and, as a consequence, a grand migration ensued, and the cities of Hamilton, Treasure City and Shermantown were built. For some time great excitement prevailed, until the old hill was proven not all silver, when it subsided and the place declined, though for a short period it was in a fluctuating state, like most new mining towns; but its decline was finally decided by a majority of the people proving somewhat migratory in their natures and seeking new fields for their labors, although mining will still be carried on with success, indefinitely. Two newspapers are published weekly, the Union and the Journal.

VIRGINIA CITY.—This place, numbering about fifteen thousand inhabitants, is situated on the eastern slope of Mount Davidson, at an elevation of 6,200 feet above the level of the sea. County—of which Virginia is the county seat—the richest in the state. Being the metropolis of the State, and, from its position in the mining district, more easy of access than other places, 'tis the main source from whence most of the mining towns receive their supplies, the many excellent wagon roads leading in every direction making the transportation of freight, from place to place, comparatively easy. Virginia is connected with Carson City—the State Capital—by a railroad not long since constructed, and stages leave daily, connecting at Reno with the great Trans-continental Railroad trains.

This road, the Virginia and Truckee Railroad, will soon be pushed through to Reno from Carson, thereby connecting Virginia with the former place, direct by rail, enabling the traveler to make the trip between those points in about two and a half hours. The religious interests of Virginia are represented by five churches costing from $10,000 to $100,000; the educational, by the City Public Schools and the School of the Sisters of Charity. The Libraries are four in number, the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Public School and St. Mary's, in the aggregate numbering about six thousand volumes. There is one printing office, that of the Daily and Weekly Territorial Enterprise. There are flourishing Lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows, Good Templars and two Military Companies. The Fire Department is composed of six Engine Companies, one Hook and Ladder Company and several Hose Companies. The Water for all uses is supplied by the Virginia and Gold Hill Water Company and the town is lighted by gas.

There are many beautiful and costly residences in the city which, wherever possible, are surrounded by handsome and well kept grounds; and in the vicinity are a few fine gardens, but generally, instead of luxuriant vegetation, the eye meets with the brown, barren, rocky hills of the surrounding country, all plainly indicating the fact that to its mineral productions Virginia owes its vitality. In 1859, rich deposits of silver ore were discovered on what is now the ground of the Ophir Mining Company. A Mr. Comstock was employed to purchase the claims of Kirby and those holding with him, by whom the grounds were then claimed, and hence Comstock's name was given to the lode. This lode is in length about 25,000 feet, the outcroppings extending in a broad belt along the mountain side. Over seventy claims were located on this lode, forty-two of which are found mentioned in the Surveyor's report. The principal of these claims are the Savage, Hale and Norcross, Gould & Curry, Ophir, Yellow Jacket, Chollar-Potosi, Alpha, Imperial, Kentuck, Belcher, Crown Point, Segregated Belcher, and Overman. The annual silver product is about $15,000,000, and the totol product from the Comstock vein since its discovery, must be nearly $150,000,000.

WINNEMUCCA is a station of considerable importance, 463 miles from San Francisco. The station is called New Winnemucca to distinguish it from the old town of Winnemucca, situated on the south bank of the Humboldt not far from the station—though near it is hid from sight. The Humboldt Register, a weekly democratic paper, is published here. The town was named for a chief of the Piutes who formerly lived here. The new town is built along the line of the road. Trains change officers and engines here for which a stay of thirty minutes is CARSON CITY—the southern terminus of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad, which thus connects Carson with Virginia City—is situated on the west bank of Carson river in Eagle valley, this valley rivaling all others in the State in point of agricultural qualities. Carson is the county seat of Ormsby county, and capital of the State of Nevada. It is the oldest town in the State, and derives its name from the celebrated trapper, Kit Carson. Its population is estimated to be at the present time about 3,000. Its private residences are elegant and commodious, and its public buildings of the best on the Pacific coast. The State House has but recently been completed, although the last session of the Legislature was held within its walls, but not until May or June of the present year were all of the State offices removed from the old to the new building. It is a beautiful and finely finished edifice, wherein both good taste and political economy are displayed. The building of the U. S. Branch Mint, situated at this place, is one of the most substantial structures in the State, built of sandstone and tipped with granite. This, together with the Capitol building above mentioned, the Orphans' Home, but a short distance from the center of the city, and the State Penitentiary, a mile and a half from the town, are points of no little interest to the traveler. The buildings of the prison are solid stone, quarries of which are within the prison inclosure, and worked by the convicts.

Carson, as well as other cities, is well supplied with hotels, stores, saloons, etc.; has four churches, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopalian and Catholic; schools in prosperous condition; Masonic, Odd Fellows' and Good Templars' Lodges, literary clubs and engine companies. Distant from this place fourteen miles to the westward, is situated the delightful summer resort, Lake Tahoe, which is reached by an excellent stage road, with one of the safest of drivers. The principal productions of Eagle valley are agricultural, but its main reliance is upon its wood and timber trade, which is very extensive, the mountains around affording an almost inexhaustible supply; and as seen from the valley below, the wood strewn from base to summit, a glance would almost convince one of the truth of the remark a person was heard to make while riding over the mountain roads, that "There is more wood on these mountains than the whole of any one of the States could produce." With its various advantages Carson cannot fail, and has every facility for becoming one of the most beautiful and thriving business places on the coast.

CORINNE contains 1,000 inhabitants, but the population, like that of all new railroad towns, has been very fluctuating. This place possesses advantages which cannot fail to make the place one of great importance in time, it being the distributing point for the Montana trade. The town is surrounded by thousands of acres of fine land, which, when irrigated by water from Bear river, which can be done at little expense, will prove very productive. It has an elevation of 4,294 feet; is 1,056 miles from Gmaha, and 718 from Sacramento. Many very good buildings have already been erected, among which is a substantial hotel, ticket, freight and telegraph offices. An anti-Mormon paper, the Corinne Daily Reporter, is published here.

OGDEN CITY CO-OPERATIVE MERCANtile Institution and dry goods, groceries, drugs and liquors, Main, Ogden.
OGDEN is the great meeting point for the Central Pacific, the Union Pacific and the Utah Central Railroads. Here are extensive side-tracks, depots, large freight houses, round-houses, machine and repair shops, etc. The City of Ogden is three-fourths of a mile from the Union depot, situated at the mouth of Ogden Canyon, a gorge in the Wahsatch range, between the Weber and Ogden Rivers. It is a Mormon town, but since the construction of the Trans-Continental Railroad its population has become partly Gentile. The Mormons have a Tabernacle here, and a semi-weekly newspaper, the Ogden Junction. The population numbers about 4,500.

southern extremity of the Great Salt Lake, whence it derives its name. It was located and built by the Mormons, the first party of whom arrived in the valley on the 24th of July, 1847. Its broad streets are laid out at right angles and bordered with shade trees. Each street has a stream of clear water gurgling down its sides which comes from the mountain canyons: it is used for irregating and domestic purposes, and gives the city an air of coolness and comfort not easily described. Most of the buildings being of stone and adobe, the city has in that respect the appearance of a European town. Its public buildings are all interesting, and some are extraordinary. In 1853 the building of a Temple was begun, but has never been completed. Its walls are level with the ground. The foundations of the Temple cover an area of 21,850 feet. When finished according to the plan shown visitors it will be a very imposing edifice. The first building which attracts one's attention is the Tabernacle, an immense structure, which seen from a distance looks like a huge bell. It is built from designs drawn by one of the Mormons—Mr. Henry Grove. It is elliptical in form, has a length of 250 feet, and a width inside, of 150 feet. The roof is supported on 46 colums of red sandstone, nine feet by three, and rises in an unbroken arch to a height of 62 feet. When the Tabernacle was first erected, its acoustic properties disappointed its builders. To rectify this, a gallery capable of seating 4000 persons has been built around it, except at its western end. This addition has had the desired effect. The acoustic properties are now all that could be desired, while its seating capacity has been increased so that the building will now seat 12,000 persons. The speaker's stand is at the west end of the building. It is raised five feet above the floor, and contains three seats, rising one above the other. These are for the presiding authorities. Behind these are seats for a choir of forty voices; still further behind and a little higher is the grand organ, the third largest in America, and the largest ever built in the United States. All the public buildings are worthy of note. The Theatre is large and built of stone, on a scale corresponding with the buildings spoken of, and has sitting room for 1,700 persons. The Council House, Court House and City Hall, are all worthy of a visit. Besides the handsome little Protestant Episcopalian church, erected some time ago, and the Liberal Institute, built by the Godbeites and now used as a sort of general lecture room, the Catholics and Episcopal Methodists are building handsome churches. The Catholic church was recently dedicated by Archbishop Alemany, though not yet entirely completed. The Methodist Episcopal church is having a fine building erected on Third South street near Main, which will have a seating capacity of about a thousand, with a basement for scholastic purposes and rooms for the principal of the Methodist Seminary and the Pastor. The Salt Lake Seminary, under the auspices of the M. E. church, is for the present held in the rooms formerly occupied by the St. Mark's school, two blocks south of P. O. in Main street. Some of the private residences, particularly those of Brigham Young, are very fine. The Hotels are good. The principal ones are the Salt Lake, Townsend, Revere and White House. There are four newspapers published here: the Review, published by Kenyon and Fenton, is a first class daily; the Salt Lake Herald, the Mormon Tribune, and the Deseret News, are all live papers for a live people.

It is in the midst of a fine agricultural district, and the commercial advantages afforded by the navigation of the river and the prosperity it enjoys, gives undeniable proof of its fine situation. EUGENE CITY, Lane County, an incorporated city and county seat, was first laid out in 1853 and named after the founder, Eugene Skinner. It is situated on the Willamette, on the direct route of the Oregon Central Railroad and another line connecting it with the Central Pacific Railroad, which will greatly increase its business—already of considerable importance. Its population numbers between 1,500 and 2,000; it has two public schools, well attended, and an excellent academy for teaching the higher branches; six churches, and the usual number of lodges of different orders; dry goods stores, groceries and other places of business. The country around this city is well adapted to farming and stock raising, and in fact Lane County is noted as being the best for that purpose of any in the State. There are large tracts of lumbering lands within its borders, and extensive beds of coal have also been discovered within the county. The papers issued here are the State Journal and the Guard, both weekly.

JACKSONVILLE, the principal town in the southern part of Oregon, is an incorporated city and the county seat of Jackson county. It is located on the western side of Jackson Creek—a tributary of Rogue River—and is the center of the rich agricultural, stock raising and mining district of tha valley, and commands the entire trade. Jacksonville contains about eight hundred inhabitants whose intelligence and industry are proven by th general appearance of their city. The institutions for the education of the young are of a high order, and both public and private schools are well maintained; the private—a seminary for young ladies and a school for boys—by the Roman Catholics. Two weekly newspapers—the Sentinel and Democrat News—are published here. In 1850 gold was discovered in this vicinity, and the mines were very productive and continue now to furnish employment for numbers of miners, and ample remuneration to the proprietors, which, together with th other interests above mentioned, bespeak for Jacksonville continued prosperity.

has, and will continue to, add greatly to the foreign trade. Its population numbers nearly 9,000, and has taxable property to the amout of about $6,000,000. It will soon be in immediate communication with all parts of the East by way of its connection with the Central Pacific. It is now connected with all parts of the world by water, the Willamette being navigable for sea-going vessels. Six-and-twenty years ago the ground which Portland now occupies was covered with forests of evergreen trees, and now, when we think of what it was then and what it is to-day, the change in so short a time seems truly wonderful. It receives its name from the city of Portland in Maine, that being the native place of one of its founders—Mr. Pettygrove. For a place of its size Portland stands unexceptionable in educational matters, there being six public and eight private schools well attended; there are sixteen churches, of the various denominations; as also there are many other public edifices of a superior order. Many of the private buildings are of elegant and attractive appearance, indicating a high degree of taste in the people as well as wealth and refinement. Seven newspapers are published here—the Oregonian, daily and weekly; the Herald, daily and weekly; the Christian Advocate, weekly; the Commercial, daily; the Deutsche Zeitung, weekly; the Catholic Sentinel, weekly; and the Good Templar, weekly.

ROSEBURG, in Douglas county, and county seat, is a thriving little town of five hundred inhabitants, situated in Umpqua valley, on the stage road from Portland to Sacramento, and one hundred and fifty miles from Salem. The country around this place is of an agricultural character principally, though surface mining is carried on with some little success. The county also contains deposits of coal, limestone, sulphur, and building stone, all of which have been partially and profitably developed. Nor must we forget to mention the salt springs, from which a quantity of that article of a superior quality is made. There is an abundance of good timber land, which helps to make this valley one of the richest. Roseburg maintains its schools, churches and other public organizations well, does an increasing and promising business, and supports two well-conducted weekly newspapers, the Ensign and the Plain-dealer.

SALEM.—On the east bank of the Willamette river, at a point navigable for steamers during most of the year, is situated most advantageously and beautifully the city of Salem, county seat of Marion county and Capital of Oregon. Besides its commercial interests, the other advantages will be greatly enhanced by the route of the California and Oregon Railroad passing through here. This place has the honor of having erected the first woolen mill on this coast, it having been built in 1857 by the Willamette Woolen Manufacturing Company. Salem is noted for its educational and ecclesiastical institutions, and has received the sobriquet of "The City of Churches," it having more church buildings than any other city or town of its size on the coast. There are five public schools, and several private schools of a high order. The Willamette University, located at this place, is an elegant brick structure, is one of the best of schools, and has a medical department attached. Salem has a population of about five thousand; is one of the most elegantly laid out, best regulated and promising cities of its size on the Pacific slope, and is every way worthy of being the Capital of so fair and flourishing a State. Four newspapers are here published: the Oregon Statesman, daily and weekly; Willamette Farmer, weekly; Willamette Valley Mercury, weekly; and the Medical and Surgical Reporter, monthly.
